Maine is a place where the ocean appears to float the morning sun, where the beauty and healing of nature resonates, creating a unique feeling of peace and pleasure. From the Great North Woods to the invigorating salt air, this is my Maine and the inspiration and foundation for my poetry. My book has lessons of life, nature, positive thoughts, motivation, and renewal. My presentation will include some readings, a look at Maine as a source of renewal and inspiration, and a look at three generations of poets.

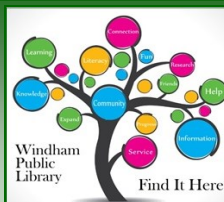

The Woodland Poet is Bill Priest, a full-blooded Maniac. Growing up he spent summers working on a dairy farm and acquired a great love and respect for animals and nature. A graduate of the University of Maine, he is a husband, a father, a grandfather, a brother, an uncle, a friend. He and his wife Lynn are residents of Windham and own Wepco International Packaging in Windham.
